

PREPARED SPECIFICALLY FOR: All Day All Night Bail Bonds

Steve, Angie, Cynthia, and the team at All Day All Night — your listing says Open 24 Hours. I called the Brighton number at 5 a.m. on 8/8/2026, and a recording told me you were closed and to leave a message. Maybe it was a glitch — but your callers don't know that. At 559 reviews you're the agency Brightonians call first, and every night that recording keeps them dialing. The Premium Line makes sure this doesn't happen.

THE PROBLEM

At 2 a.m. nobody leaves a voicemail.

The family hangs up mid-ring and dials the next listing in Google — their own reviews admit it: "I called five bondsmen before..."

That's not a missed call. That's a missed premium, lost revenue.

FIELD REPORT — WE CALLED

All Day All Night (your line) (559 reviews, "Open 24 hours") — 5:03 a.m., 8/8/2026: "We are closed. Leave a message." Losing callers nightly — and doesn't know it.

Another Brighton agency — 5:11 a.m., 8/8/2026: 3 min on hold, ukulele music, then a human. Their callers hung up and kept dialing.

Nobody stays on hold for 3 minutes. They keep dialing.

THE SOLUTION — WHAT IT DOES

1. Picks up the second you can't — "Thanks for calling, I can get this to a bail agent right away."
2. Captures the intake — defendant's name, where they're being held, whether bond's been set, caller's relationship, callback number. One question at a time, calm tone.
3. Assures the caller a licensed agent will call back in 15 minutes (you can customize the time). It never quotes the premium, never discusses payment plans, never promises a release time.
4. Texts you the Intake Info the moment the caller hangs up.

A caller hearing that reassuring 15-minute promise at 2 a.m. does the following:

1. Instantly relaxes
2. They put their phone down!

WHAT YOU GET AFTER EACH CALL: THE INTAKE INFO. & CALL DATA

In addition to the Intake Info., the text will include:

caller's name · callback number · call duration · link to the full transcript and recording

WHAT IT WILL NEVER DO

- Quote the premium or discuss any other financial topic
- Promise a specific release time
- Give legal advice of any kind
- Sound cheerful or scripted when the caller's stressed
